

SHELDON WESTERVELT RECEIVES 2ND ASBA “INDUSTRY MERIT AWARD”

At the December, 2009 Technical Meeting of the American Sports Builders Association (ASBA) in Savannah, Georgia, the organization honored the association’s eleven founding members with the industry’s most coveted and rarely given award, the “Industry Merit Award.”

Of this group of eleven founders and charter members, only four members are known to have survived: Dick Hoover, Bob Caldwell, Bob Lee and Sheldon Westervelt.

Bob Caldwell and Sheldon Westervelt (the last remaining active ASBA founding member) are the only two ASBA members to have received this award twice in the forty-four year history of the Association, which now boasts over three hundred fifty members.
